Application Questions

Please respond to the following questions. Answers should be no more than 150-200 words each.

1. Please describe your academic or artistic focus.

2. Please describe your current job and the institution for which you work.

3. Please describe any previous international collaborations or projects with which you have been involved.

4. How will attending the CAA conference benefit your professional development? In addition to your scholarly or artistic interests, please include any job-related issues, such as developing curricula for your department, creating an archive of materials, online learning, digital publications, etc.

5. On February 21, the day before the Annual Conference begins, the CAA-Getty International Program will convene a preconference colloquium about international issues in art history. Program participants will have an opportunity to give short presentations that relate their scholarly interests to shared global issues. Examples of topics addressed in the past include:

- Postcolonial and Eurocentric legacies
- Interdisciplinary and transnational methodologies
- Rewriting the art history curriculum
- The intersection of politics and art history
- Challenges of terminology, translation, and access
- Global trends in museum research and exhibitions

Please select one of these topics and describe how it relates to your scholarly interests.

6. Because the purpose of this grant is to support the internationalization of art history, briefly describe your views on the current state of the field from a global perspective and your thoughts on ways to improve it.

7. Feel free to include any additional comments here.
